Foreword

TODAY'S ACTIVITIES INFLUENCE TOMORROW'S FUTURE

When the young people come to the eve of their graduation, they look forward for the plans of the future.

First let us consider the activities in which we participate; these activities will help us venture farther in life. From these activities one derives all of his future plans. Things that are done in the past will always be mentioned in the future.

Everyone wonders about his future, whether he is a high school graduate or a drop out. If we considered the importance of our future we could help determine what we are going to be, whether we are a success in life or a failure. We must understand that today's life has changed a great deal; one can not sit down and expect to accomplish a successful goal.

Graduating from high school is just the starting point of activities which will influence our future. After we have graduated from school and there are not any teachers to tell us when to study, what to do, or how to get along with our fellow man, we must have the insight and understanding which we have obtained during our twelve years in school to help us meet the challenges of a changing society.

The challenges of today's youth are greater than ever; we hold the future in our hands whether we use it to our advantage or our disadvantage--it is ours.

America is a wonderful nation composed of people of all races, religions, and beliefs. All of these people help to make America strong. Now that we have reached one point of elevation, we must join with many other Americans and play our dramatic roles as American citizens.

DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of 1966, in order to express our appreciation to our parents do hereby dedicate to you this, our yearbook, The Bobcat. This dedication symbolizes our affording pleasures and sensitiveness to you for what has been applied upon us for the past twelve years. During this time we have come far, and had it not been for your gracious aid, we realize that it would not have been possible for us to reach the degree which we now hold on the thermometer of life.

As we leave this, our senior year, with our hopes set on steadily climbing the ladder of success, we would like to say, "Thank you again for your help". We do hereby promise that our angle of elevation will be always upward, striving for a new grasp on life itself.

Principal's Message

The educated man is one who has learned much and is eager to learn more.

Never before has man had such capacity to control his own environment--to end thirst and hunger-to conquer poverty and disease--to banish illiteracy and massive human misery. We have the power to make this the best generation of mankind in the history of the world or make it the last.

Together, let us build sturdy mansions of freedom, mansions that all the world can admire and copy, but no tyrant can enter.

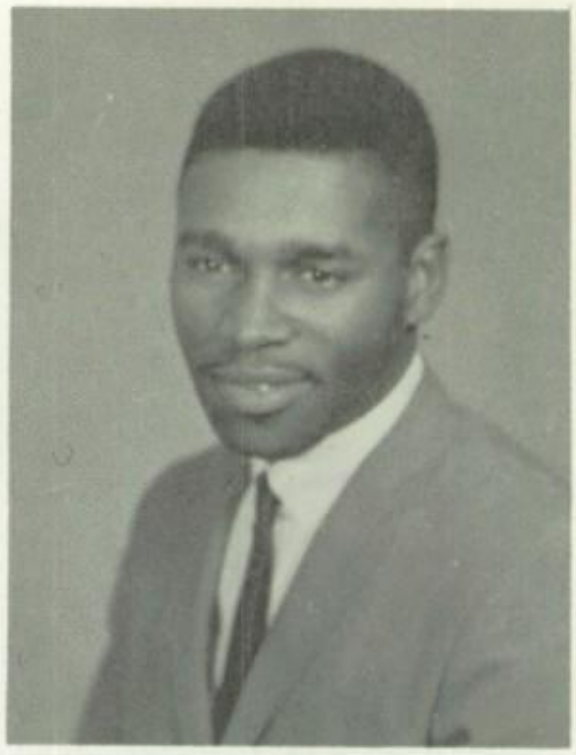
Message from the Sponsors



It has been stated that one is known by his deeds; thus, let the world and us know you. It has been fortunate for us to have known you the greater part of your high school years, and ordinary adjectives and superlatives will not befittingly describe you. Although you have come a long way, actually you are only at the crossroads of life. You have reached a moment of decision--"Which road shall I take?" Neither parents, teachers, nor ministers can make this decision for you; you, and you alone, must finally choose. The road you choose may lead you to happiness, fame, and fortune; or it may lead you to unhappiness, misery and degradation. Will your chosen road reveal to the world deeds of fruitful worthiness and fulfillment, or deeds of blustered emptiness and shame? Choose wisely, and work diligently. Remember these words from Robert Frost:

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I--
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference."

Though our high school studies are over,
Our education has just begun.
We've worked very hard to get thus far,
To keep our minds up to par.

We studied real hard to pass the tests,
But only we know if we did our best.
Yesterday is past; tomorrow is ahead,
Carelessness and mistakes are our only dread.

Dear Ole SWEET HOME HIGH, our years we recall,
Your guidance and counsel have made us grow tall.
The journey was rough and hard to make,
But we shall remember it was for our sake.

By Carol Smith and Vivian Handy

Senior Class Song (In tune to "Days of Wine and Roses")

The days at SWEET HOME HIGH SCHOOL
Have been fun for us, have been work for us
And we hate to leave but now the time has come
And now we say good bye and aim for the sky.

The lovely days have passed now
And we look ahead, to the future now
And we hope that as the years go passing by
We'll think of SWEET HOME HIGH SCHOOL and you.

We'll leave but not for always
We shall come back home, on another day
And the world will say that we have been of note,
We've made a mark in life
We've come through toils and strife.

But now the time is nearing,
When we go our way, toward a brighter day,
And the times that you have made us conscious of
We love dear SWEET HOME HIGH SCHOOL and you.
